

Inch by Inch, Row by Row, How does my Garden Grow?

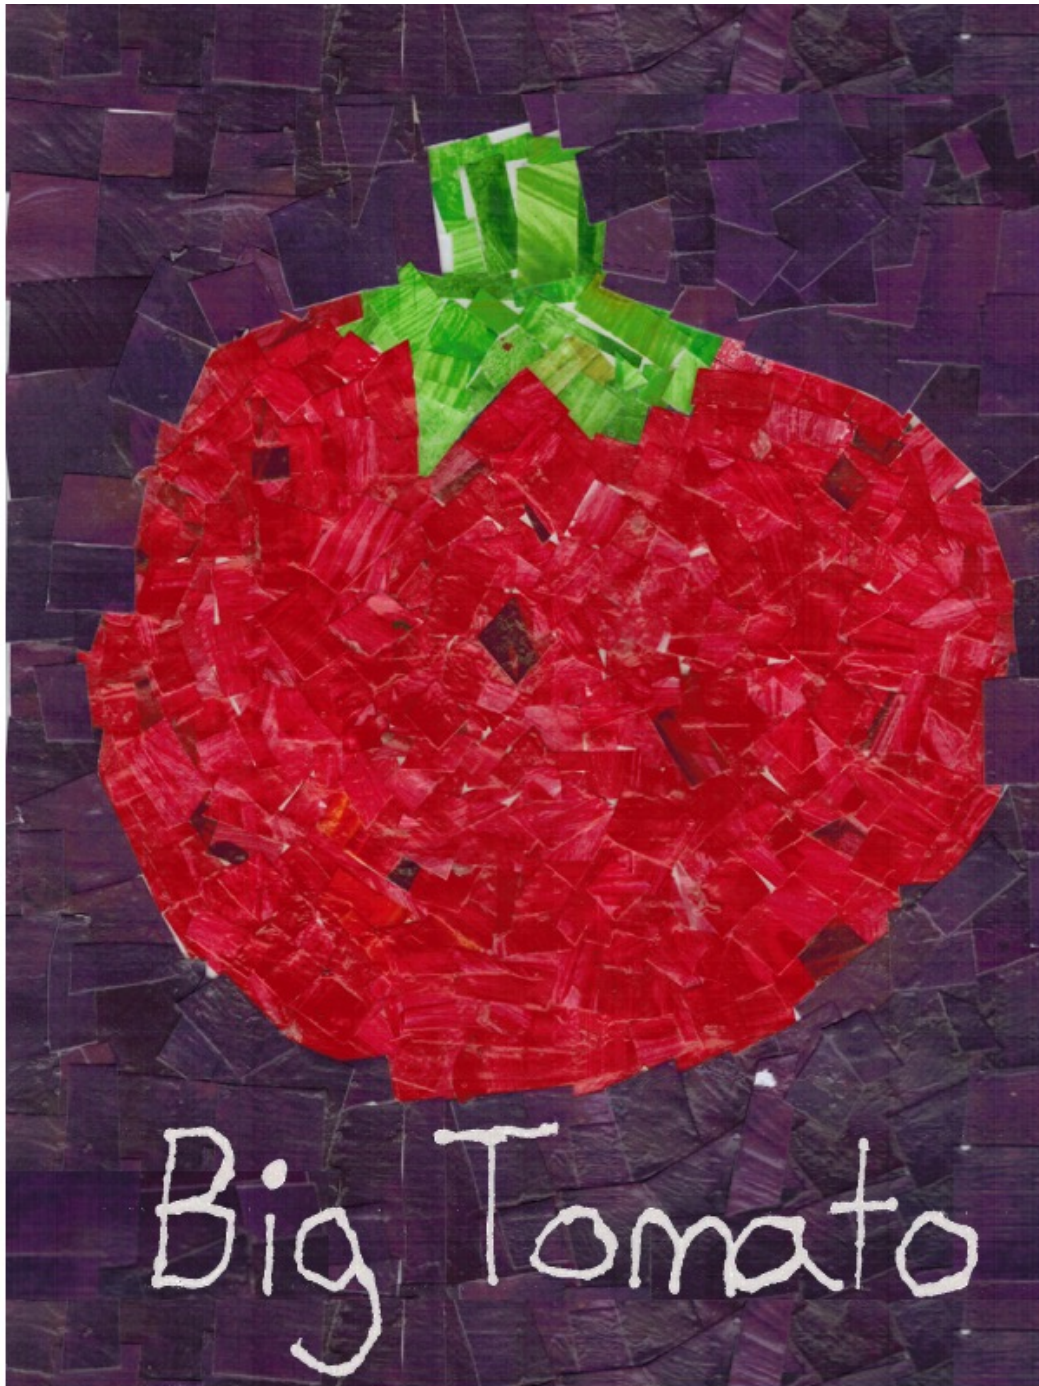

Gabriel planted the basil seeds on March 17th. Basil needs full sun to grow. You can harvest basil in 60-90 days. Basil is green with oval and circle shaped leaves. They can be big and little. Basil tastes minty. It is kind of fuzzy like Ella's green beans. Basil is yummy in soup, tastes great in pizza and looks like spinach. Basil goes in the herb, pasta and pizza garden.

River planted the banana pepper seeds on March 17th. Banana peppers need full sun to grow. You can harvest banana peppers in 65 days. They are yellow and green. Banana peppers taste like a sweet pepper. They are pointy and feel hard and crunchy. Banana peppers go in the pickle, salad, pizza and pickle gardens.

Eloise planted the broccoli seeds on March 17th. Broccoli needs full sun to grow. You can harvest broccoli in 85 days. Broccoli is like a small green tree. It does not taste like anything else. Broccoli is bumpy on top and smooth on the bottom. Eloise likes to eat the top first then the bottom. Broccoli goes in the KinderCREW favorites garden.

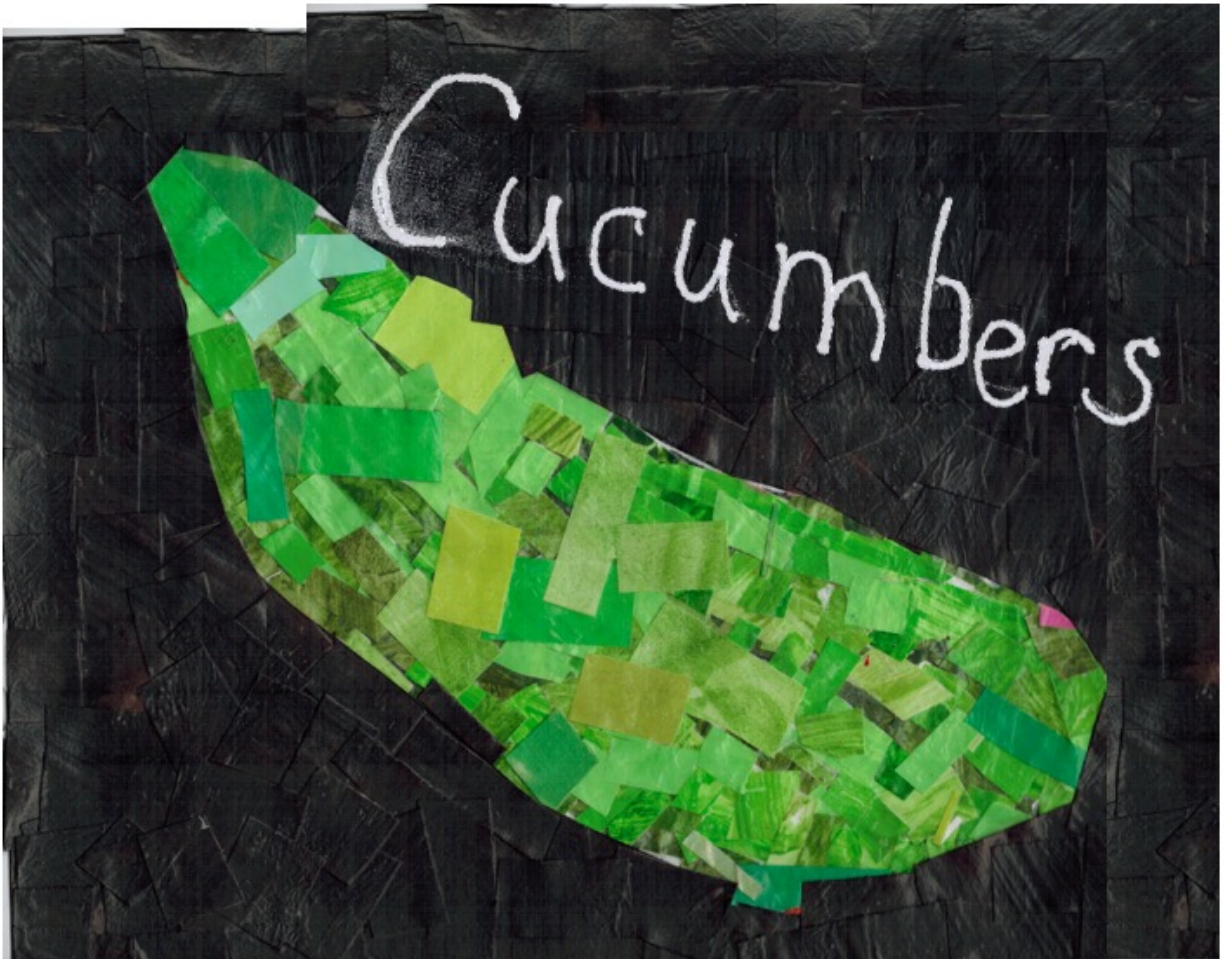

Talon planted the big tomato seeds on March 17th. Big tomatoes need full sun to grow. You can harvest big tomatoes in 80 days. They are big, red tomatoes. Big tomatoes feel soft and are bumpy and round. They taste sour and sometimes sweet and juicy. Big tomatoes go in the pizza garden.

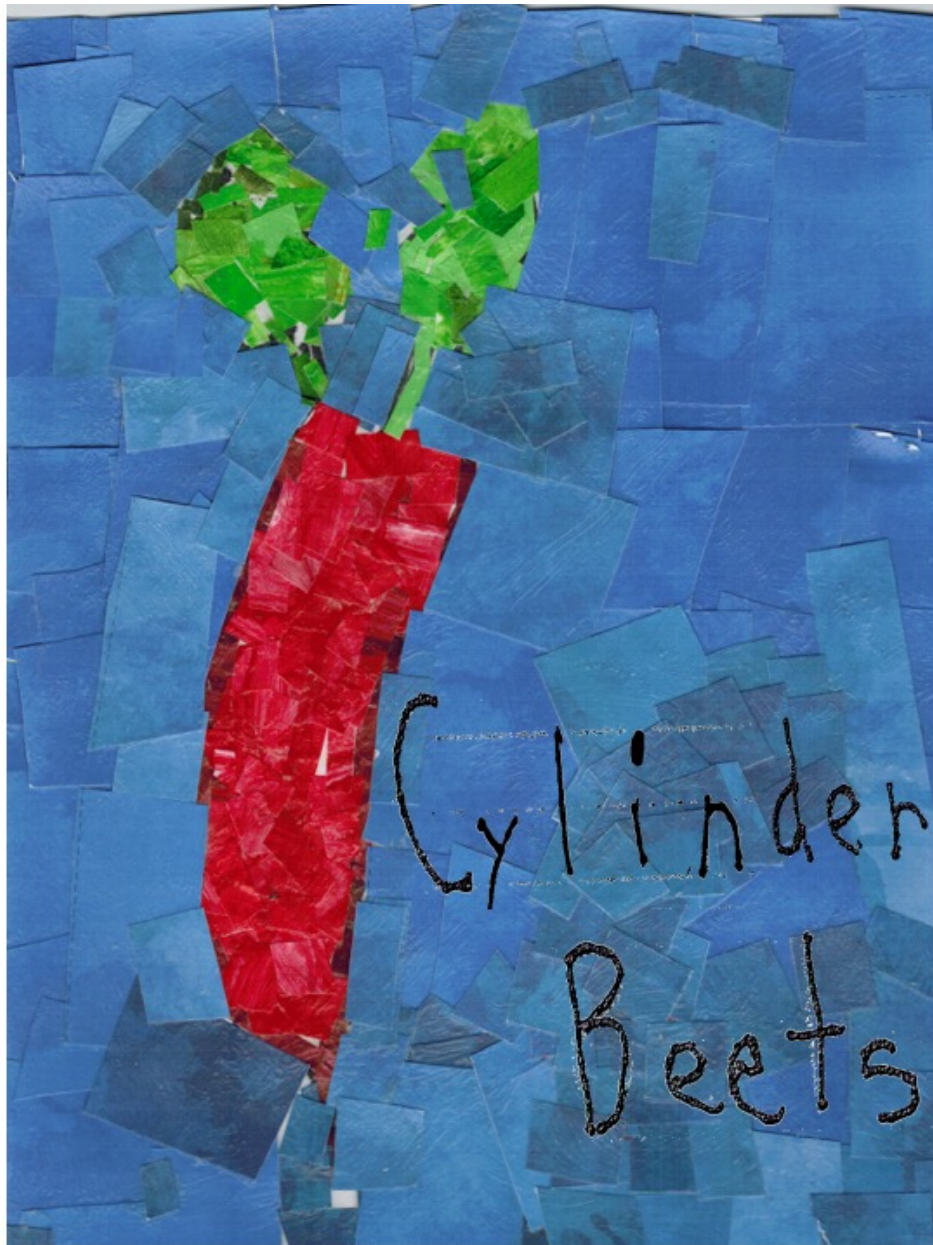

Jazmine grew carrots this expedition. Carrots need full sun to grow. You can harvest carrots in 75 days. Carrots are orange with a green leaf on top of it. I love it. The shape is like a pepper. Carrots are crunchy to eat. Carrots go in the soup, pickle, and KinderCREW favorites gardens.

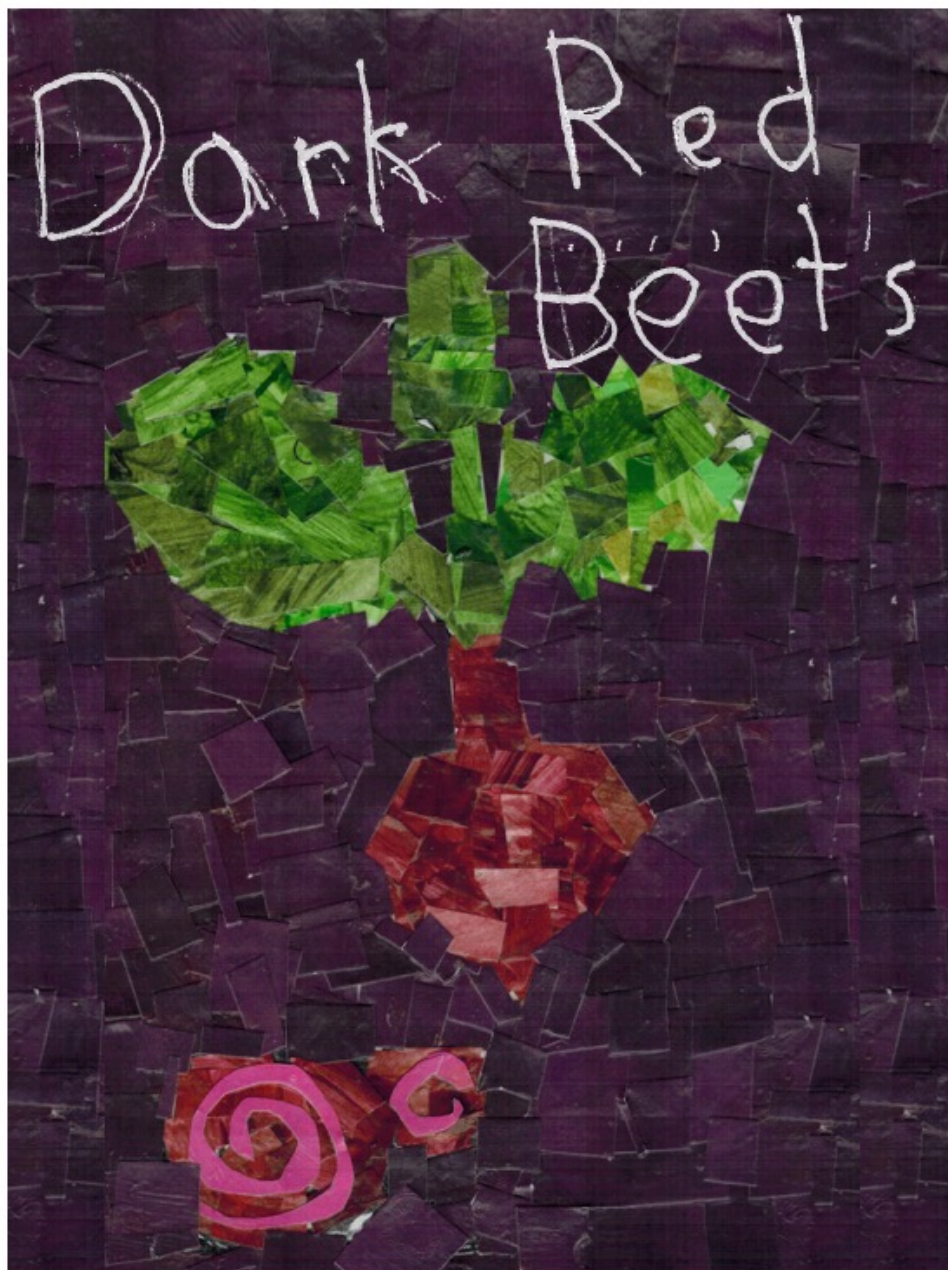

Guen planted the cherry tomato seeds on March 17th. Cherry tomatoes need full sun to grow. You can harvest cherry tomatoes in 70 days. Cherry tomatoes are red and green. They are tiny tomatoes that taste sweet and a little bit sour. They are soft and smooth. Cherry tomatoes burst with juice in your mouth. Cherry tomatoes go in the pizza, salad and KinderCREW favorites gardens.

Raven planted the cucumber seeds on March 17th. Cucumbers need full sun to grow. You can harvest cucumbers in 55 days. A cucumber is juicy and good for eating. Cucumbers are green. Sometimes they can be C shaped. They are bumpy. Cucumbers are in the pickle and salad gardens.

Jack grew cylinder beets for this expedition. Cylinder beets need full sun to grow. You can harvest cylinder beets in 60 days. Cylinder beets are shaped like a cylinder. They are dark red with pink swirls inside. Beets taste like dirt. They feel squishy when they are cooked. Beets go in the soup and pickle gardens.

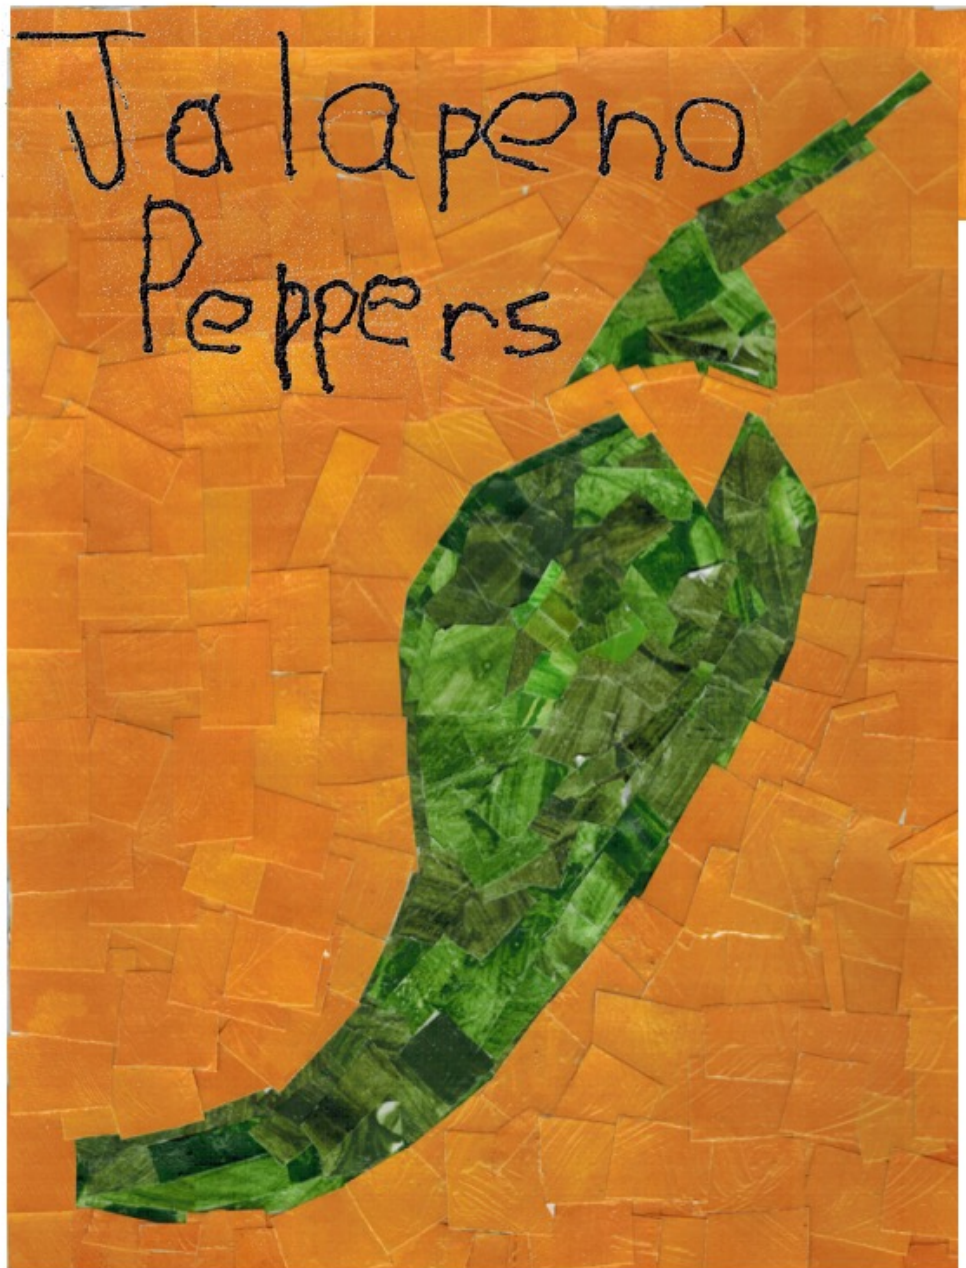

Otaktay grew dark red beets for this expedition. Beets need full sun to grow. You can harvest beets in 59 days. Beets can be cut up and have swirls. They are red and have leaves that are green. Beets are squishy when they are cooked and they are harder when they are not cooked. Dark red beets are like a sphere with a point on the bottom They taste a bit like dirt. Beets go in the soup garden with rosemary, roma tomatoes, carrots, spinach, and basil. Beets go in the pickle garden too.

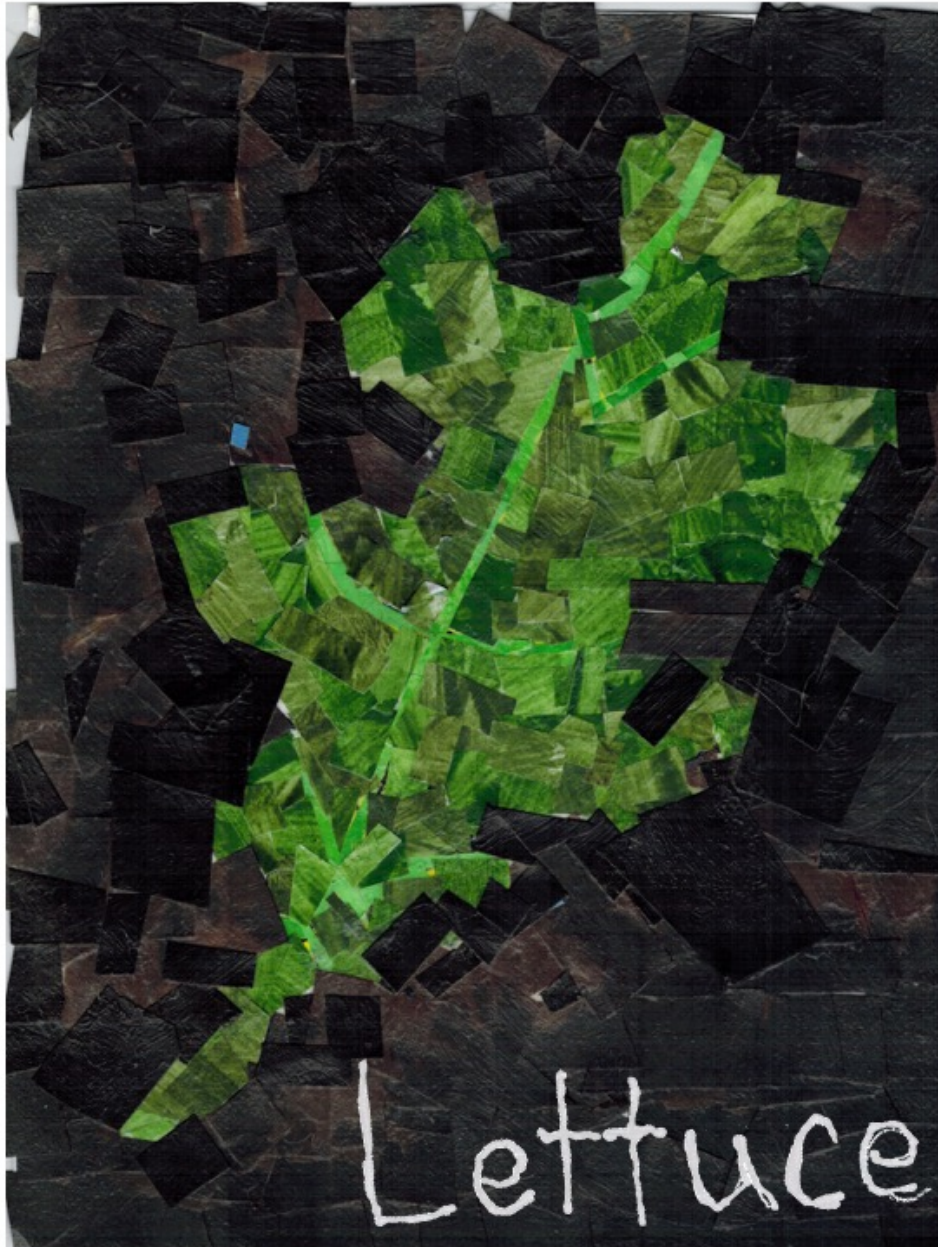

Ben planted the dill seeds on March 17th. Dill needs full sun to grow. You can harvest dill in 40-60 days. Its leaves are shaped like pine needles. Dill tastes like grass and feels smooth. It is green and yellow and it has leaves. Dill is used to make pickles and goes well in soups. Dill is in the pickle, herb, and KinderCREW favorites gardens.

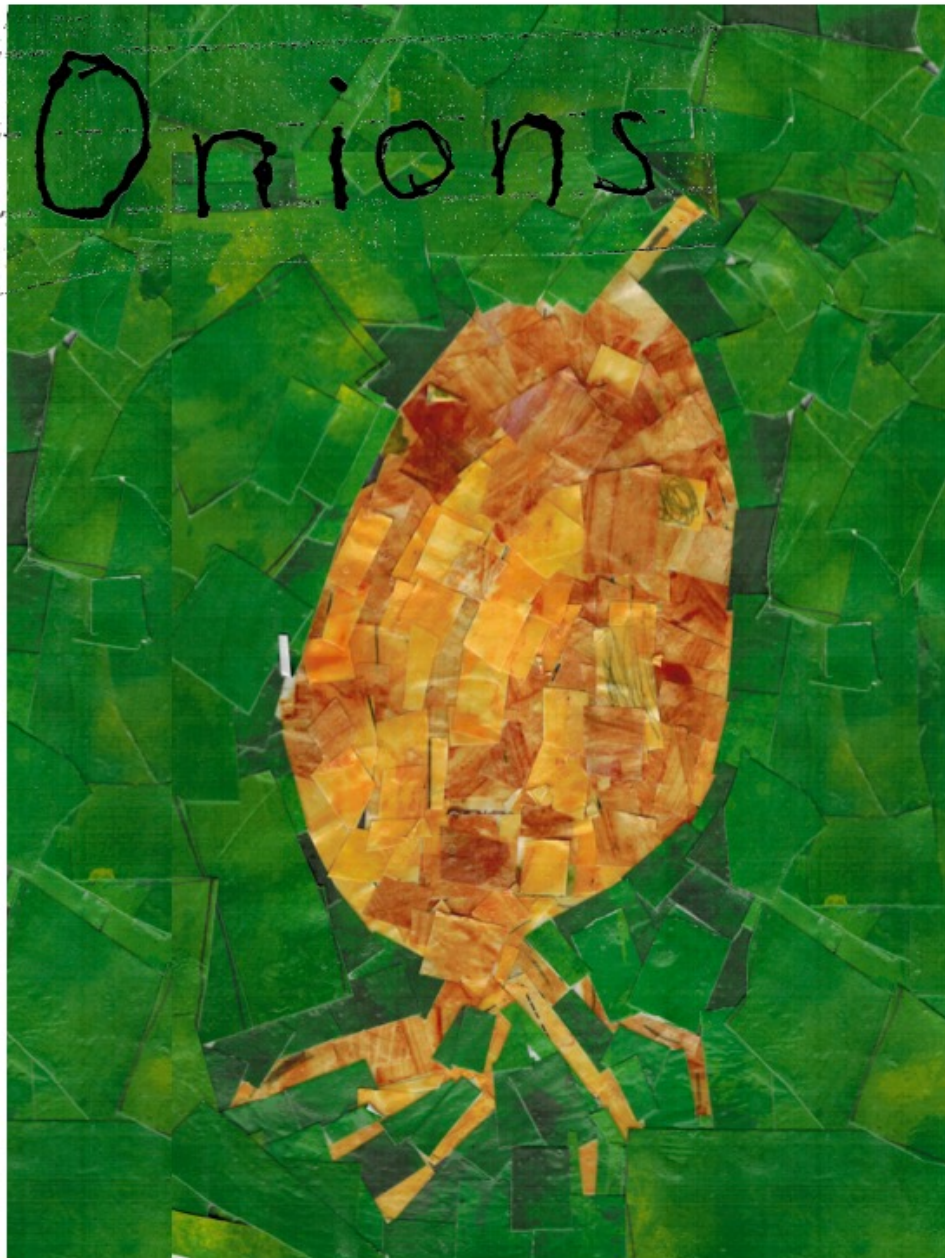

Ella planted the green bean seeds on March 17th. Green beans need full sun to grow. You can harvest green beans in 50 days. Green beans are green. They are long and skinny. Green beans are juicy, crunchy and have no flavor. They feel fuzzy on your fingers. They are in two gardens: the pickle garden and the KinderCREW favorites gardens.

Ethan planted the jalapeno seeds on March 17th. Jalapeños need full sun to grow. You can harvest jalapeños in 72 days. They are dark green, long and like a triangle. Jalapeños are a spicy sweet pepper that can turn your face red. They are smooth and crunch and make your breath like fire. Jalapeno peppers go in the salsa, pickle, and KinderCREW favorite gardens.

Ryan grew lettuce this expedition. Lettuce needs full sun to grow. You can harvest lettuce in 45 days. Lettuce is shaped like a leaf. Lettuce tastes like celery. It is smooth and crunchy. Lettuce can be many colors, but is mostly light and dark green. The bottom can be brown. Lettuce is in the salad garden.

Winston planted the onion seeds on March 17th. Onions need dirt and full sun to grow. You can harvest onions in 120 days. Onions are so so so spicy and make you cry. It looks yellow. Onions are round and feel kind of hard and kind of soft. When you bite them the juice falls out of the crunch. Onions go in the salad, pasta, salsa and pickle gardens.

Huck planted the pea seeds on March 17th. Peas need full sun to grow. You can harvest peas in 65 days. Peas look like rocks inside a green canoe. They taste a bit sweet and bitter. Peas are dark green on the outside and light green on the inside. They are long and skinny. When you open the pod it is bumpy because of the peas inside. Peas go in the salad and KinderCREW favorites gardens.

Brenna planted the radish seeds on March 17th. Radishes need full sun to grow. You can harvest radishes in 25 days. Radishes are white and red and shaped like a carrot. Radishes are spicy. They are crunchy to eat and oily to feel. Radishes go in the pickle and salad gardens.

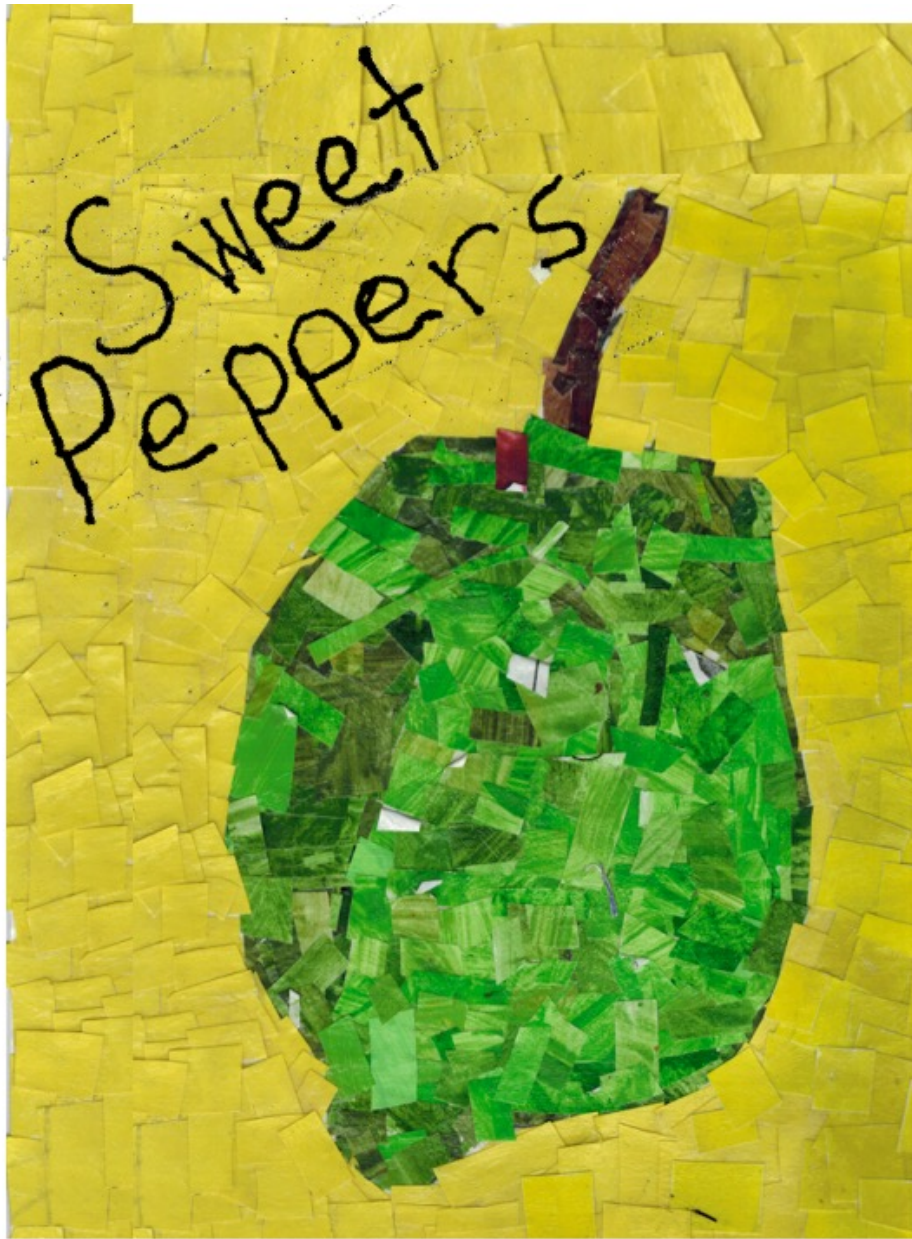

Cait planted the roma tomato seeds on March 17th. Roma tomatoes need full sun to grow. You can harvest roma tomatoes in 76 days. They have green stems, red fruit, and are really pretty. They are oval. Roma tomatoes taste bad because I don't like them. They feel soft, but kind of hard. They are smooth. Roma tomatoes go in the salsa, pasta and soup garden.

Colin planted the rosemary seeds on March 17th. Rosemary needs full sun to grow. You can harvest rosemary in 90-400 days. Rosemary leaves are green, pointy and look like pine needles. They are also smooth and soft. The stem is red and brown. Rosemary is spicy and crunchy. Rosemary goes in the herb and soup gardens.

Sofia planted the spearmint seeds on March 17th. Mint needs full or part sun to grow. You can harvest mint in 90-200 days. Spearmint is a light green, poky leaf. It tastes like cool toothpaste. Spearmint feels soft. Spearmint goes in the herb garden and can be made into tea.

Malia planted the sweet pepper seeds on March 17th. Sweet peppers need full sun to grow. You can harvest sweet peppers in 70 days. Sweet peppers are green and yellow. They taste sweet which is why they are called sweet peppers. They have a square top and round bottom! They are smooth and are shiny when you wash them. The inside is wet and sometimes crunchy when you bite them. Sweet peppers go in the pizza, salad, salsa and pickle gardens.