

By The Telfer Crew
Spring 2020

The Important Thing About The Coyote

By Maverick

The important thing about the coyote is that it sleeps in a den.

It has pointed ears.

It eats fruit.

It has many predators. Some are bears, wolves and man.

It has thick fur.

But, the important thing about the coyote is that it sleeps in a den.

The Important Thing About The Rabbit

By Mason

The important thing about the rabbit is that it is fast.

It lives on mountains, in the woods. They also build warrens. Warrens are tunnels under the ground.

It eats grass and other plants in the summer. In the winter rabbits eat dried plants, twigs and bark.

It has lots of predators. Its predators are lynx, fox, weasel, wolverine, hawk, owl, eagle and snake.

It has fast strong back legs, camouflage and good hearing.

But, the important thing about the rabbit is that it is fast.

The Important Thing About The Salmon

By Mackenzie

The important thing about the salmon is that it has a silver belly and a dark back and blends in with streams.

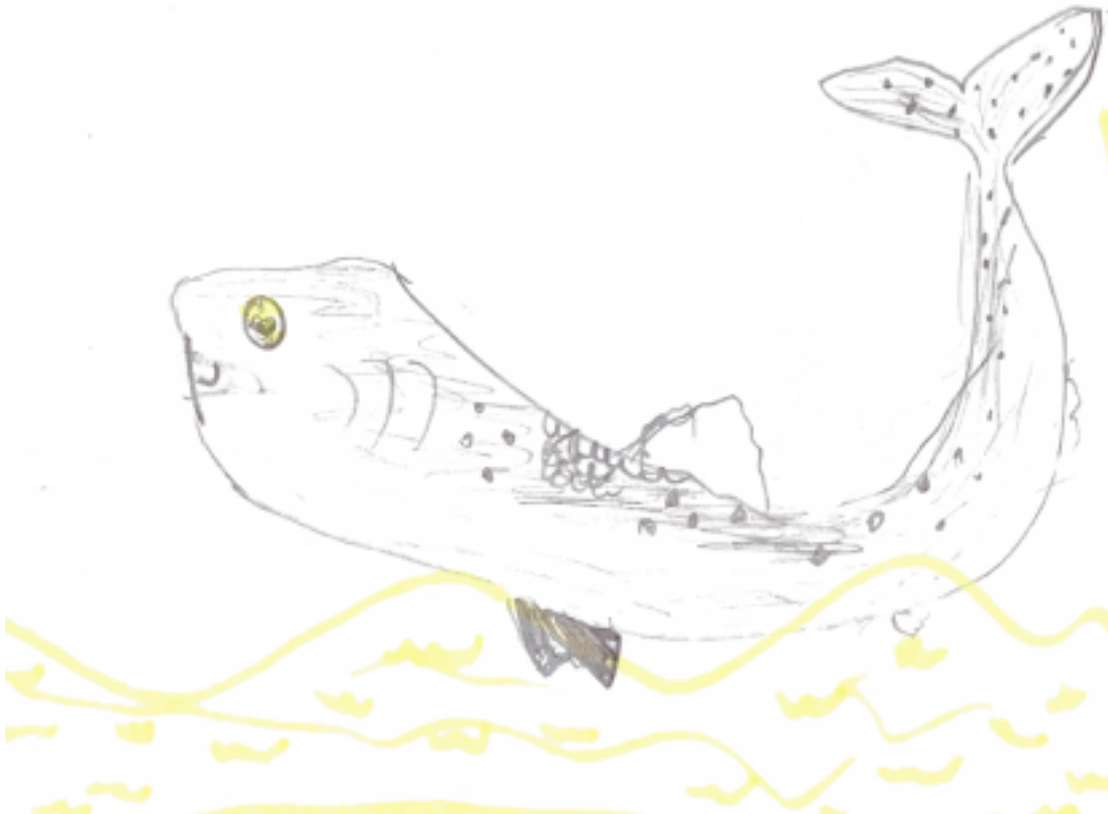

Its predators are bears and otters and sharks and eagles.

It eats small fish and plants and plankton.

It lives in Canada and Japan and the United States in streams and oceans.

It swims in groups.

But, the important thing about the salmon is that it has a silver belly and a dark back and blends in with streams.

The Important Thing About The Weasel
By Max

The important thing about the weasel is that it is a small mammal with long body.

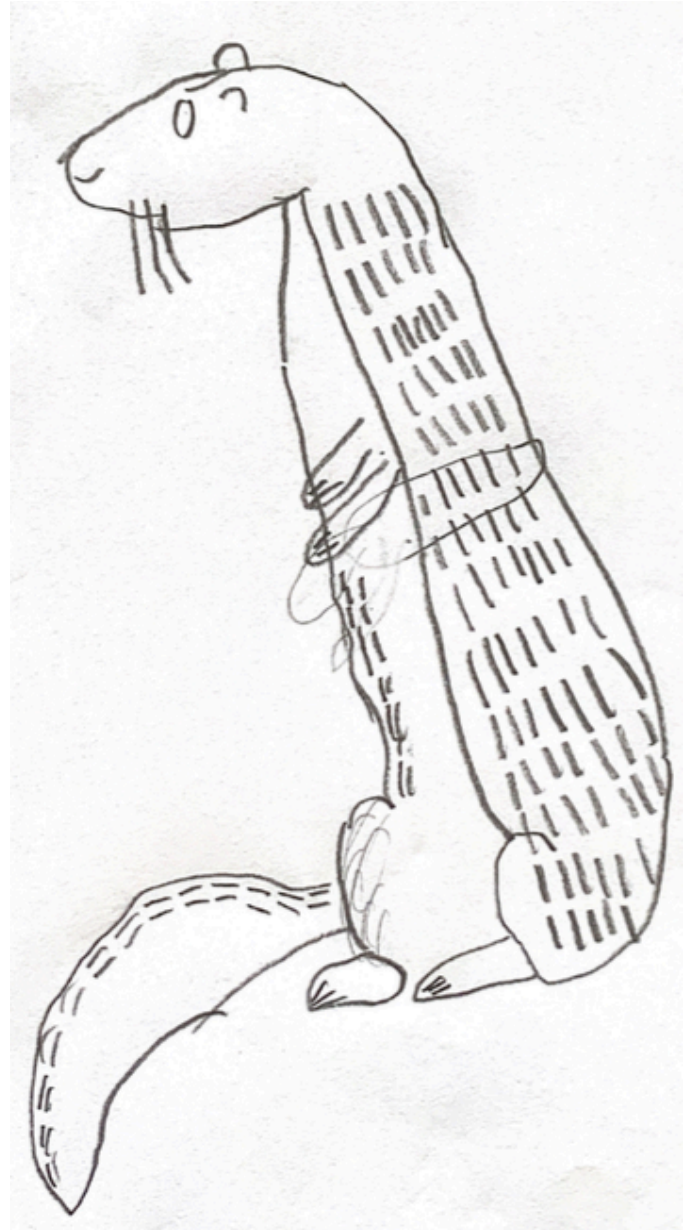

Its habitat is rock piles.

Its diet is mice, rabbits, voles, frogs, rats, birds and bird eggs.

Its predators are foxes and owls.

It has sharp teeth.

But, the important thing about the weasel is that it is a small mammal with a long body.

The Important Thing About The River Otter

By Grace

The important thing about the river otter is that it is playful, and has thick brown fur.

It lives in a holt.

It eats birds and muskrats.

Its predators are coyotes, bobcats, and gators.

It has little, sharp teeth.

But, the important thing about the river otter is that it is playful, and has thick brown fur.

The Important Thing About The Garter Snake

By Ava

The important thing about the garter snake is that it has scales.

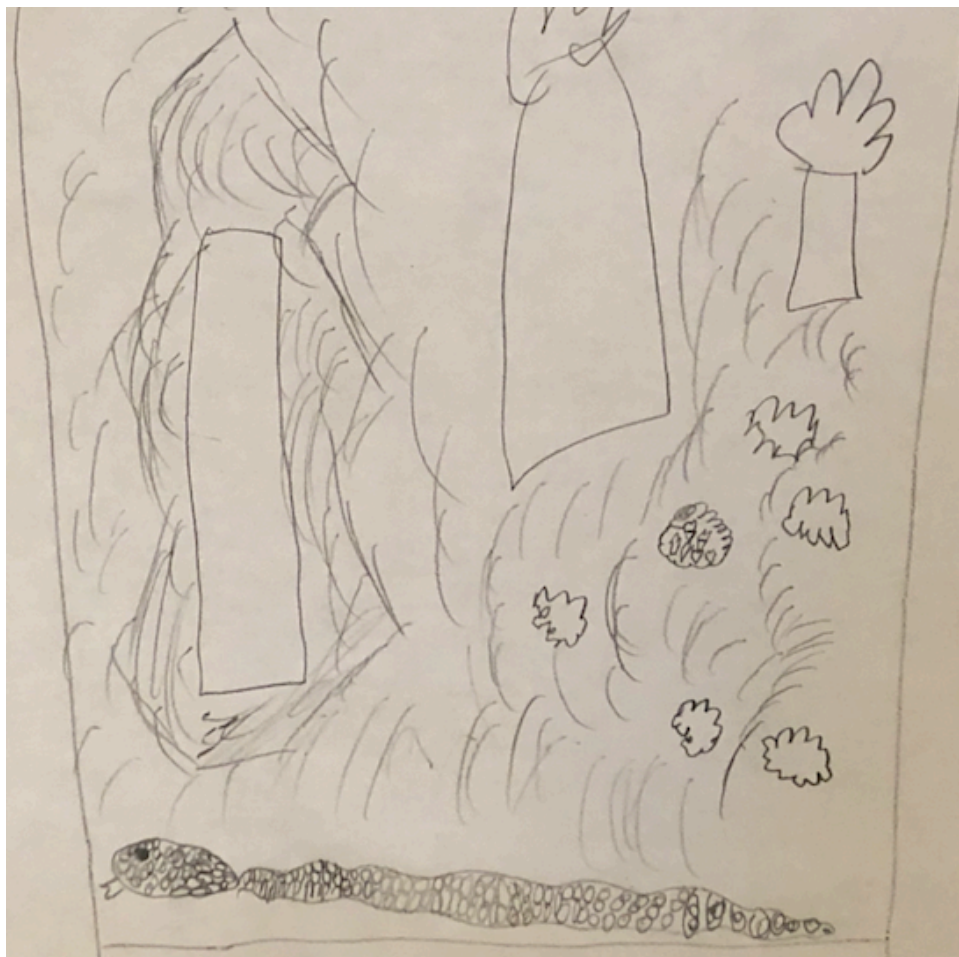

It is black and yellow.

It slithers on the ground.

It eats pests in the garden.

It mostly lives in meadows and forests.

But, the important thing about the garter snake is that it has scales.

The Important Thing About The Weasel

By Evren

The important thing about the weasel is that it has sharp teeth.

It burrows in rock piles and logs.

It eats eggs, voles, and mice.

One of its predators is a fox.

A weasel turns white in the winter.

But, the important thing about the weasel is that it has sharp teeth.

The Important Thing About The Woodpecker

By Oliver

The important thing about the woodpecker is that it has a sharp beak.

It has a long beak.

It has sharp, claws.

Its habitat is the forest, hillside, parks, woodlands, and deserts.

It has stiff nails.

It is an omnivore. It eats seeds, nuts, bugs, fruits, berries, worms, insects, and sunflowers.

But, the important thing about the woodpecker is that it has a sharp beak.

The Important Thing About The Weasel

By Gabriella

The important thing about the weasel is that it sharp claws.

It runs fast.

It sleeps at daytime and is awake at night.

It can have up to 15 babies at a time.

It will attack other house pets.

But, the important thing about the weasel is that it sharp claws.

The Important Thing About The Woodpecker
By Mahlon

The important thing about the woodpecker is that it has a sharp beak.

It has a barbed tongue to get insects and seeds.

It lives in trees in the forest.

The wild cats and snakes and foxes eat the woodpecker.

But, the important thing about the woodpecker is that it has a sharp beak.

The Important Thing About The Weasel

By Natalie

The important thing about the weasel is that it has long whiskers.

It lives in rock piles, burrows, in logs and tunnels.

It eats voles, mice, rabbits, pray larger than themselves, eggs and ducks.

Its predators are coyotes, foxes, owls, hawks, eagles, and snakes.

Its adaptations are nails to help climb, and the color of the fur helps them blend into the ground.

But, the important thing about the weasel is that it has long whiskers.

The Important Thing About The Woodpecker

By Aurora

The important thing about the woodpecker is that it has a strong skull.

It can live anywhere except Alaska.

They have a strong beak.

Their predator is a wild cat.

It eats fruits and seeds.

But, the important thing about the woodpecker is that it has a strong skull.

The Important Thing About The Weasel

By Charlie

The important thing about the weasel is that it is camouflaged to hide from prey.

It has a white belly.

Its home is a rock pile.

It eats frogs.

Its predators are birds.

But, the important thing about the weasel is that it is camouflaged to hide from prey.

The Important Thing About The Beaver

By Ben

The important thing about the beaver is that it has a flat tail.

It lives in lodges and water.

Its diet is leaves and branches.

Its predators are humans and coyotes.

Its adaptation is sharp teeth.

But, the important thing about the beaver is that it has a flat tail.

The Important Thing About The Deer

By Colin

The important thing about the deer is that it has sharp antlers.

It lives in mountains.

Its predators are men, coyotes, and wolves.

It eats grass and bark.

It has long canine teeth.

But, the important thing about the deer is that it has sharp antlers.

The Important Thing About The Bobcat By Natty

The important thing about the bobcat is that it has thick fur.

It lives in the woods. It lives in swamps. It lives in the desert.

It eats rabbits, chickens, other birds and deer.

Its predators are wolves, coyotes, cougars, alligators, and mountain lions.

It has spots and stripes to camouflage it self, It has excellent vision and hearing. It is a good climber and has sharp claws to hunt with.

But, the important thing about the bobcat is that it has thick fur.

The Important Thing About The River Otter

By Cassen

The important thing about the river otter is that it has fur that keeps water out.

It lives in dens.

It eats crayfish.

Its predators are bobcats.

It has a flat tail.

But, the important thing about the river otter is that it has fur that keeps water out.

The Important Thing About The Bee

By Damian

The important thing about the bee is that it lives inside honeycombs.

Its diet is based on pollen, nectar and honey.

Its predators are lizards and toads.

Bees have a stinger to protect themselves.

But, the important thing about the bee is that it lives inside honeycombs.

The Important Thing About The Bee

By Janine

The important thing about the bee is that it lives in gardens, woodlands, and farms.

Bees gather both nectar and pollen from flowers.

Its predators are bears, skunks and hive beetles.

The yellow and black stripes confuse the predator and they have stingers.

But, the important thing about the bee is that it lives in gardens, woodlands, and farms.

