"The background sky shows me outside, behind my window.
It is sunset because there is a lot of darkness around. I am serious and sleepy, because of the way my eyelids go down."

"I made a backyard behind me because backyards are beautiful. I love puffs in my hair so I put my hair into puffs, with hair clips. Sometimes I don't wear them. I love yellow; it's my favorite color shirt."

"My self-portrait tells people that I am sleepy. I picked the night for the background because that is when I get to rest. The flowers in my hair tell people that I am happy and tired."

"I chose to be outside, in my backyard, but I just couldn't figure where I could put my house. I put the sky when it is a sunset and the yellow is the sun, it is low. The orange is like Vincent Van Gogh; I made my paint stripy. It seems like it's me because I made all of the colors on my hair, my lip color, my headband, and my skin."

"I put my house there because I like being at my house. It has lots of toys and has a really cool wheel and when it spins around it lights up. I chose my window and my sister Gretchen's window, because I love her. I made my house brown because it's the color of my favorite food... chocolate! Green is my favorite color and I made the grass green."

"I like the way I paint my nose, because it is a little to the side and it looks like an M upside down. I chose blue for the background because it is my favorite color. I like every blue, light blue, dark blue, every blue. I am happy and my eyebrows are straight."

"I made my shirt blue because I like blue, it makes me feel good. I made a serious face because I wanted to. I put red in the background because it is hot and fast, like a racecar. My hair is long in my picture, when it gets long again I am going to get a Mowhawk."

"I chose yellow because it is my favorite color, it is in the rainbow, and that is why it is a color. Red is the same color as yellow because it is in the rainbow too. But black is a shade; it is not in the rainbow. I am happy because my eyes are big and my eyebrows are smaller and my mouth is making a happy mouth. When people are happy you can see it in their mouth."
